Dan was the finest retail salesman and manager of people that I have ever known. He led the crew at American Marine Supply like a field general. Dan had humor, honesty, and loyalty. These are very valuable traits rarely found in employees today. I sort of grew up in business with Dan. I have always missed him in the years since we parted. He was my friend and I regret having learned about his death at this late date. Kay and I wish the very best for Lois and the family. Dan will be missed!Harold

Dear Lois and family, This is a bit late in writing but I just wanted to let you know how much I miss knowing that Danny is no longer with us here on earth. I will always remember how much fun we all had when visiting Danny from Ohio as far back as before Walt Disney World being built. He was my Dad's best friend from their youth and I remember him very fondly through my own earliest childhood memories. Danny was a connection to my father who passed before him in 2002. Dad and Danny are laughing up a storm and playing pinball in Heaven together now. To Laurie, I still remember the fun we had when we were little girls. May God Bless you all.
