Uncle Walt I hadn't seen in years since he moved to Florida but I remember going to Aunt Sue's house in North Benton and him smoking those cigarettes and talking the truck talk with my Dad and the other men of the family. I will miss knowing that another one of my mom's family members have left this earth but is now re-united with other family members in a much better place. God Bless

Walter will always hold a special place in my heart. I did not get to visit like I had hoped. At church he was "grandpa" and there were many Sundays sitting with him helped me through the service. Walter is with the Angels... Margaret

I frequently pushed Walter in his wheelchair at Bay Pines, and he joined us at the Chapel service every Sunday. I told him that back in South Jersey, Flitcraft was a prominent farming name. He said he had a farm in Ohio, but never knew of any Flitcrafts elsewhere. God Bless you Walter. Bob Stanton
