Raymond Brown lit a candle in honor of Linda.

My Sweet Linda was laid to rest today--I hope she's at peace. There are no words to express the sorrow I feel knowing that the Best of me is gone. For those who truly knew her, you'll understand when I say you had to stack 'em high when it came to my beloved wife. There's Not a moment that goes by that I don't think of her and our life together. Safe journey, My Darling. Your Loving Husband, Ray

The life she lived and the way she touches our hearts even today. She will always be missed and remember as if she were right here. Even at this time of the ever real grief may that joy you smile about when you remind us of the joy she brought to you. May you know she is beside you in grief and in the power of a smile. We Loved her deeply and we love you Ray. Always here love to you, Kathy & Judy.

Dear Linda, I know you are looking down from heaven on all of us right now. I always remember our beach days together with You, me, and Ronda. I also remember the fun time we had at Wendy's and Burdines. We love you and send our prayers to Ray for his loss. Even though we lost contact over the years, the letter you sent me meant the world to me. Keep your loving hands on us from heaven. I will miss your smile.

Best friends are those who can go without seeing or talking to each other for years & pick right up as if it was yesterday....Linda was that friend for me! I will always remember our fun adventures and laughs... Lots of laughs. Save a chair for me on the beach 😊. Love you my friend... Always, Roo
