Happy new year cousin, not a day goes by that I don't think of you. I love you so very much and I'm still In pain knowing you're not here physically with us. Our family has pushed to stay strong these last few months since you've been gone but I know you're with us in spirit and I pray you're watching over your family and just know we will always remember you and your kind soul. You meant so much to me and still do. I love you ❤️

Ryan, all I can start off saying is I miss you more than words can describe. My heart is still broken and there hasn't been a day that's gone by where I don't think of you. God gained a beautiful angel, and I pray you are watching over all of us. I'll never forget us as toddlers taking our bath and you throwing the wash cloth in my face, or the time as a teenager when you knocked out my ex boyfriend for verbally abusing me. You had such a live in the moment attitude that I greatly admire you for, and I hope that with time, I can live my life like you did. You were a risk taker, a loving person and all around awesome human being. Everyone you came in contact with loved you and you just set a fire in their soul that I don't think I've ever seen in anyone else. These past 2years I have been ashamed of myself for not visiting you, which is one of the reasons why I'm so heartbroken every day. Even though our last time together was a happy time, I wish it wasn't cut short. It was always a good time when we were together, whether it be barbecuing at our aunts house, or going to the club and my idiot self getting kicked out for acting like a fool. Lol . I will say tho, if you hadn't did what you did for me when I was 19 years old, I would have never met my husband and I will forever be grateful for that. Everyday I try to hold back tears, but I don't always win that battle. God needed you more than we did, and I'm glad you showed every bit of love you had to all of us, even when you were facing issues, you still kept going and showing our family what it was like to just love each other unconditionally. I just wanna say I love you cousin, and thank you for all the memories through the years. Come visit me sometime and keep me outta trouble. 😊

Ryan, I know it has been a while since I've seen you but I want to thank you for always making me feel so welcome and like family to you. You always gave me the biggest hugs and the sweetest compliments when I would see you, ever since we were young. And who could forget all of the slices of cake you shared with me at all the cousins birthdays growing up lol. Since you've passed, I think about you all the time and wonder how awesome life must have been for you with your fearless heart. Your passing has really inspired me to take advantage of the amazing opportunities that God gives us while we are here on earth. Never make excuses for why we can't take that risk. Trusting that God will see us through. I have peace that this was your outlook on life and that is why you were always ready for anything. Your dad said you were like a candle and a light in his life. I pray that as your soul rests with God, your memory continues to be a light in all of our hearts and that we share love with others how you did with us. Thanks for the memories. Love you always.-Lizzy (or how you would always say, "Lizard")

Ryan words can not describe the feeling in my heart right now. I know that you were a candle in my life. your smile said it all they way you loved me even though i was hard on you as a parent. just wanted you to be like me and you were. You put a smile on all the people that you touched. when you were growing up the best times we had together were riding bike every morning going to your baseball games,going fishing,you helped me when you could and you would always say i love you dad no matter what. I remember the last thing you helped me with was pulling the pool ladder out of the pool.your last words to me that night was dad there is pizza in the refrigerator take some to work and i will help you fix the boat dont worry dad i got it.I will miss all those times my son but you will live inside of me for ever. i will live for you now like you told me in my head. you said dont shed a tear for me live for me.Son i will see you again in heaven so please give a sign once in a while love you for ever Ryan your father.

Ryan it is a week since u left me. I miss you so much . I told everyone if u could only see what was happening the day of your memorial all u would do is smile and be the happiness person on earth because your family and friends were all together just like u have always liked. They all told me u were with me looking down. I know u had the faith in God and I also know u r in heaven taking care of others like u did here with us especially your grandmothers and grandfathers. You were always positive Ryan and don't like the negativity. You were my first born son who I will NEVER let you be forgotten. I know there were times you and I butted heads but we both loved each other with all our hearts. You know my son you were my everything and I hurt so much that u r gone . Your Dad, brother, sister, nephews, niece and all your family and friends will keep your memories alive. LOVE YOU!! ❤️ You will always be my baby. 😊
