Aunt, but in my childhood, more of a "big sister" that I adored. So many memories! So glad I was able to spend some time with her, though very short, in the past few years. And I know she is playing the piano along with my mom, her sister, and that her parents and the other siblings that are there with her are playing other instruments and singing the hymns they all loved so much. Praising God doesn't get any better than that!
