Jon, This has been the most difficult thing I have ever had to go through. You came into this world 7 weeks early and made me the happiest Mom ever. You were always a great baby and an amazing child. You gave me so many memories to cherish. You grew into a wonderful and caring young man. A very hard working man. You loved your Job at memorial park, you lite your when you talked about work. Always wanting to help anyone that needed you. You worked long hours and made me a proud Mom. I was always so proud of you. I miss your eyes as they sparkled, I miss your smile and the silly laugh you had. You touched so many peoples lives. I wasn't surprised by how many people you touched as I know your an amazing person in general. You came to my house today , not in the way you were supposed to on Christmas Eve. You were supposed to be on the plane on your way to visit me and then hopefully want to move here to MD. We we're going to look around here for a job at the cemetery's. In hopes you would stay because I wanted you close to me. Now your my wonderful angel and I will see you again someday. I am a true believer of Gods and know you are there with him and your Dad. I have to stay here for your siblings as your youngest sister needs me. Please watch over Heather honey as we are having such a hard time with you having to leave us here on earth. Until we meet again my wonderful son. I love you more then words can ever express. I will cherish our memories together forever. ❤️ I am so heart broken and pray that God's can help mend my heart...

Jon we worked side by side for hundreds of services on the grounds of Memorial Park. Such a young hardworking man full of potential. Such heaviness fills so many hearts grieving your loss. I pray for your family and friends. I know that your smile is one that a person remembers. Rest easy Jon.

My beautiful Nephew and God Son, my heart breaks now. You lit up our lives and your smile always made me smile. Your kind heart suited you perfectly. You were a loving person. You worked hard and loved hard and accomplished all of your goals. You were looking forward to making new memories. Starting a new life. If I could only turn back time! Jon we will love and miss you the rest of our lives. Love you from your Maryland family. Aunt Donna, Uncle Al, and your cousins Jessica, Ross and Jennifer Wysong.
