My husband and I went to visit Nira several years ago in the memory care facility she was living in at that time. She was up in front of a group of residents singing "Country Roads" along with a guy playing guitar. My husband joined right in, she lit right up, and we all had a good old time! Even though she was losing her memory, she didn't forget a word of that song and she was so happy singing it! I'll always remember that day. Kelly Bivins
