Crystal Lynn White-Russo

NOV 12, 1987 - NOV 28, 2024

Cystal Lynn White-Russo, born on November 12, 1987, in Indian Rocks, Florida, passed away on November 28, 2024. Crystal was a cherished daughter of Lynda Dawn White and Robert Edward Russo. Her life was a testament to love, kindness, and dedication, leaving an indelible mark on all who knew her.

Crystal's nurturing spirit was evident in her love for children and her passion for babysitting, where she found joy and fulfillment. Her gentle nature and warm heart endeared her to many, creating lasting bonds with those she cared for.

She is survived by her devoted fiancé, Larry Weatherford, who stood by her side with unwavering support and love. Crystal's family, including her beloved mother, Lynda, and her brother, Sean White, will forever cherish her memory. She is also survived by her stepmother, Julie Russo, and stepfather, Jeffrey Collins, who played significant roles in her life. Her stepsisters, Shawna Puhak and Lisa Puhak, remember her as a loving and supportive sibling.

Crystal's life, though tragically cut short, was filled with love and compassion. Her family and friends are left with a profound sense of loss, but also with gratitude for the time they shared with her.

Services to honor Crystal's life are currently being scheduled. In lieu of flowers, the family kindly requests memorial contributions to assist with funeral expenses, allowing them to focus on celebrating Crystal's beautiful life and legacy.

Julie Russo posted:

I remember this one time we took Crystal to the movies and to eat and I got behind an older person driving very slowly, and I had said, "turn the corner, Poppy". Crystal thought that was the funniest thing and we laughed for a long time over that one. She kept saying it all day!
