Ludovina Romero

FEB 12, 1936 - NOV 11, 2025

With deep love and gratitude for her life, the family of Ludovina Sepúlveda de Romero announces her passing into the presence of her Lord and Savior. Born on February 12, 1936, in Hormigueros, Puerto Rico, Ludovina was the beloved daughter of Clemente Sepúlveda and Margarita Carrasquillo de Sepúlveda. She is also survived by her brother, Eniovel Sepulveda and sister, Sunalem Sepulveda.

A devoted wife to Pedro Romero, Ludovina built a home filled with faith, warmth, and unwavering love. She was the cherished mother of eight children: Margarita, Elvin, Rolando, Sonia, Edward, Peter, Orlando, and Ida Lisa. Her life was a beautiful testimony of a mother's strength, a servant's heart, and a woman's steadfast devotion to God.

Ludovina was gifted with a gentle spirit and a poet's soul. Moved and inspired by the Lord she loved so deeply, she wrote heartfelt Christian poetry—offering praise, encouragement, and reflections of the faith that anchored her life. Her words, born from prayer and devotion, touched many and will continue to speak life and hope to those who read them.

She will be remembered as a godly woman whose life reflected the love of Christ in everything she did—through her kindness, her prayers, her hospitality, and the way she poured herself into her family.

Ludovina completed her earthly journey with the same grace and faith that marked every step of her life. Though her absence leaves a profound void, her family rejoices in the blessed assurance that she is now at rest in the presence of her Heavenly Father—restored, rejoicing, and eternally home.

Her legacy of faith, love, and poetry will continue to live on in all who knew her.

Peggy Simpson lit a candle in honor of Ludovina.

I only met her once at a women's meeting at Canyon Ridge Christian Church. She sat next to me, she had a warm and friendly presence that was immediately calming. Her eyes held a deep kindness as she listened intently to everyone around her, only offering a soft, gentle word or a reassuring smile when needed. She spoke about her faith with a quiet certainty, not in a way that sought attention, but as a simple, integrated part of who she was. Her gentle spirit left a lasting impression. I remember thinking how beautifully her actions reflected the Christian warmth and grace she embodied.

Sunalem Sepulveda lit a candle in honor of Ludovina.

After my parents divorced, my dad would take us every Sunday to visit one of his siblings. So my brother and I would get to play with our cousins. We spent a lot of time at Titi Lucy's house in Richmond Hills, Queens. She would cook a HUGE pot of arroz con pollo and other delicious food!! Titi, I am sure you are at peace and in heaven 🕊️ Love you, Suni
